COMMODORE'S MESSAGE

For those of you who have had the courage to peruse the past couple of Portholes, I promise to be brief. As you know, We have concluded another fiscal year and are about to commence a new club year after the November Annual Meeting.

Some of you will remember that in my first opportunity to address you in the Porthole I commented on the quality of the club and in particular the area in which we all reside. Those feelings have been reinforced and I am sure those sentiments are obvious to everyone who perceives them. I should like to take this last opportunity to thank all of the members who participated in making this past year a successful one, with a special note of thanks to the committee people, those who worked so hard at the clean-up weekends and regatta, Barbara Lentz, and to the other Trustees.

I look forward to seeing as many of you as possible at the Annual Meeting on November 12th. There are some significant subjects which will be discussed, not the least of which is our recommendation for a modest dues increase and your determination as to whether we should assess ourselves to complete the interior of the club. We have received our audited Financial Statement from our accountant and copies of that document will be available to anyone interested in reviewing it. I am pleased to report that the unaudited statements which we had been using year long are not substantially inconsistent with the audited statement.

By way of personal observation, I regret being unable to devote more time to the social amenities corollary to club membership. I also regret the inability to welcome personally new neighbors and new members. To those of you who I may have unwittingly ignored, please accept my apologies with the suggestion that you, nevertheless, participate. I am sure you will be welcome and you will find your participation rewarding.

To those of you whom, unfortunately, we may not see at the Annual Meeting, please again accept from Gail and myself our best wishes for the forth coming Holiday Season and New Year.

Manny Fanarjian
